

Learning Outcome	How we'll get there
In this course, you will:	You'll do this by:
<ul style="list-style-type: none">investigate how societies come to terms with large-scale human rights atrocities;	<ul style="list-style-type: none">reading about the history of the atrocities, and by reading novels/viewing films in which the atrocities are a key theme;
<ul style="list-style-type: none">analyze the different ways story can portray human rights issues;	<ul style="list-style-type: none">undertaking tasks and discussion activities that explore how story functions in literature and film;
<ul style="list-style-type: none">develop the ability to communicate about story and fiction in more precise ways;	<ul style="list-style-type: none">writing and revising four short essays in which I will help you improve your ability to get your ideas across;
<ul style="list-style-type: none">synthesize your learning at the end of the course.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">putting together a learning portfolio.