

Video 14.3 We also have this really great partnership with the University of Toronto and the Public Health Agency of Canada, and we created the Support through Sport Series and we just launched the first of four modules around Understanding Teen Dating Violence. These modules are free, this one's available now in our system. We're developing these three modules into the next years: Bystander Empowerment, How to Develop/Model Healthy Relationships, and How to reduce Gender-Based Violence in Sport. So stay tuned for more about this.