

Video 18.1 This is not about sport, this is about humanity. We're trying to build athletes that are competent, that are technical and tactical, but that are also humans first. It starts with us. It starts with the organization, it starts with the coaches, it starts with the officials, it starts with the administrators. If you just take a moment to focus on the person, to understand what they are going through. Ultimately everyone in the sport community plays a vital role in creating a positive safe sport environment. In order to have safe and healthy sport environments, we must work together. If the education is there and the awareness is there I think that'll change the behaviors and change the mindsets of a lot of individuals. Together we can contribute to creating a safe environment. This is about creating a safe place for the top athletes in our country to achieve their goals. Together we can make sport a safe place for everyone. Together we can make sport a safe place for everyone. Together we can make sport a safe place for everyone.
