Recommendations

- Check for printing costs at a local print shop (Staples, etc)
- Printing a large document is often significantly less expensive at a print shop than it is to print on your home printer or at the Library
- Consider printing the book in black & white and referring to the web version or the PDF for any information that requires colour
- Ask about binding or 3 hole punching when you order, as this is usually low cost and will make your textbook easier to use

This book is licensed under CC BY-NC-SA 4.0 (https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/), allowing students/faculty to print it for their personal use at the cost of printing.

This book may not be printed and sold for profit.

Having trouble navigating?

If you encounter navigation issues while accessing this text via a link from your course in Blackboard (or another learning management system), please try accessing the web version using the web address in your browser. The bottom left and right corners of the web book allow you to navigate through the book (previous/next) and the top left-hand corner of the web book features a drop-down table of contents.

Other file formats available

This book is also available in PDF format that you may save, print, access offline or use with internet access (internet access needed to view many links throughout the text).

Efforts have been made to improve the user experience in all formats. If you encounter any access issues or barriers, please connect with your professor.

Known accessibility issues and areas for improvement

This book's adapters have attempted to improve upon existing features from the original sources and improve these materials for all users.

While we strive to ensure that this resource is as accessible and usable as possible, we might not always get it right. Any issues we identify will be listed below. If you encounter issues with this text, please notify your professor.

Known accessibility issues

Location of issue	Need for improvement	Timeline	Workaround
APA formatted references (throughout the book)	APA references require the location of resources to be listed as a full URL	Wait for APA update	Reference entry URLs are not "linked" but the full URL is listed in text. Plan to optimize using tagging for next update.
Video Captioning	All videos have accessible CC & transcripts via YouTube or other provider, but may not have transcripts that fully describe non-speech content.		Current provisions meet AODA requirements.
PDF version of book	PDF version of book may not be fully accessible, as it was generated using Pressbooks export.		Text versions of interactive activities added. Work on-going.

Accessibility standards

The web version of this resource has been designed to meet AODA requirements [New Tab] (https://www.aoda.ca/the-act/), along with the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines 2.0 [New Tab] (https://www.w3.org/TR/WCAG20/), level AA. In addition, it follows all guidelines in Appendix A: Checklist for Accessibility [New Tab] (https://opentextbc.ca/accessibilitytoolkit/back-matter/appendix-checklist-for-accessibility-toolkit/) of the Accessibility Toolkit — 2nd Edition [New Tab].

This statement was last updated on July 10, 2023.

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the EDE Pressbook—a comprehensive course designed to meet the English requirement for degree programs through the Academic and Career Preparation program at Georgian College.

In this engaging journey, students delve into the world of academic texts, persuasion, argumentation, literary analysis, criticism, and the profound connections between literature and society.

Throughout the EDE Pressbook, learners develop their critical reading and writing skills, honing the ability to analyze and interpret various academic texts effectively. Moreover, the course places a strong emphasis on persuasion and argumentation—an asset in both academia and the real world. Understanding how to engage with scholarly literature is crucial for success in higher education, and EDE provides a solid foundation for this. The EDE Pressbook has been tailored to ensure students gain the intellectual tools necessary to thrive in academia and society at large.
